

URGENT OVERHEAD CROSSINGS AT S. P. TRACKS

DOROTHY ELLINGSON ON WITNESS STAND

CITY TO SEEK IMPORTANT CHANGE IN PLANS

Lowering Grade Advocated As First Step; Map Is Made By Engineer

Lowering of the grade of the Southern Pacific tracks their entire length in Glendale and construction of overhead crossings at all main arteries of travel will be sought by the city of Glendale, it was learned today.

This plan would supersede a project recommended by the Los Angeles County Grade Crossing commission that provided for construction of roadways underneath the tracks at Los Feliz road, Brand boulevard and eventually Colorado street.

City Engineer J. F. Johansen has completed a profile map of the Southern Pacific tracks showing the lowered grade, with projected overhead crossings at Los Feliz road, Brand boulevard and all other important cross streets. The plan has the endorsement of the Glendale City Planning commission, and it is understood the Los Angeles City Planning commission is also favorable to the movement.

Will Submit Map
An order by the state railroad commission on grade lowering will be required before the program can be carried out. To that end Johansen's profile map will be submitted tomorrow to the Los Angeles City Planning commission by T. W. Watson, chairman of the Glendale City Planning commission for an informal discussion of the project. Later the plan will

COOLIDGE LAUDS JUDGE E. M. ROSS

Pioneer Glendelian Receives
Letter On Retirement
From Bench

Judge E. M. Ross of the United States Circuit court, long-time resident of California and pioneer Glendelian, has received the following letter from President Coolidge, commending him for nearly a half century's service on the Federal bench, and accepting with regret his retirement:

"April 1, 1925.
"The White House, Washington.
"My Dear Judge Ross: Your request for retirement as circuit judge for the ninth circuit, in view of your long and notable service leaves me no alternative but to acquiesce in your wishes. I, therefore, accept your suggestion concerning retirement, and in doing so feel constrained to refer, even if all too briefly, not only to the record on which you deserve commendation, but also to the high place that you have earned among members of the federal judiciary in your time.

Lauded for Service
"It is now approaching the end of the half-century since you were called to the federal bench. During that long period your performance of many and difficult duties has been marked by an ability, courage and determination which have repeatedly won the highest testimonies. It has been your fortune to confront on different occasions conditions which required the highest qualities of learning, wisdom, moderation and great firmness. In these you have never failed, but rather have repeatedly demonstrated a particularly exalted character and a thorough-going realization of the place which the judiciary must occupy under our system of government.

"As you are now retiring after so long and distinguished a career I wish you to know of my regret that your service is to be terminated, and of my confidence that your record will long stand as a memorial to a just and fearless and able judge. That you may be privileged for many years to enjoy the rewards which such service has so well earned for you is my earnest wish.

"Very truly yours,
"CALVIN COOLIDGE."

SITE IS CHOSEN FOR CHURCH AT ATWATER

New Catholic Edifice to Be Erected
On Boyce Avenue Near Appleton
Start Construction Soon

Purchase of a tract 150x135 feet facing on Boyce avenue, 150 feet from the corner of Appleton street, as the site for the new Atwater Catholic church, was announced today by Father M. F. Murphy, pastor. Plans for the new church structure, to cost in the neighborhood of $25,000, will be commenced next week, in all probability, Father Murphy stated, in making the announcement.

Construction work will be started within sixty days and the church will be ready for occupancy in about six months' time, he said. Three lots, owned by S. R. Veselich of the Rigali & Veselich Realty Co., comprise the new church site. They are located on the west side of Boyce avenue. A small residence now located on one of the lots will be used as a parish house for the present.

The church building, according to present plans, will be of Italian architecture with a seating capacity of 450. The church will call for a parochial school, although no attempt to build a school will be made at present.

The boundaries of the new parish will include all of the Atwater section in Los Angeles and the southern part of Glendale as far north as Cypress street. Chapman street and the Los Angeles river will be the southern and western boundaries of the parish.

Petitions Are Circulated

Petitions for the paving of Garden, Madera, Perilla, Castas avenues, Minneapolis and Kerr streets and Silverlake boulevard are now being circulated and will be presented to the City Council shortly. Representatives of patent paving are canvassing this district with paving petitions.

Boys Faced Drowning

How two small boys, their names not given in the report, were saved from drowning in the quick-moving current of the Los Angeles river, was told by the Boyle Heights police blotter today. According to Officer Joe Hersh, the boys were wading in the stream on Monday following the heavy week-end showers. Two of the boys ventured too near the center of the stream where the water was over their heads and the current swift. Larger boys in the party heard the screams of their companions and went to their rescue.

Missionary Society Meet

The Women's Missionary Society of the Neighborhood Christian church will hold a special meeting and program at the time of the regular prayer meeting on Wednesday night at the church. Readings and musical numbers will be given. On Thursday, the regular monthly meeting of the society will be held in the church auditorium in the afternoon.

Rain Aids Vegetation

Plant and bird life are flourishing in the bed of the Los Angeles river with the abundance of rain during the spring months. Thousands of quail are reported in the heavy green undergrowth of the river bed in the vicinity of Walnut Park and Los Feliz road. Japanese road runners are making life miserable for beetles and snakes in the vicinity. A trout approximately five inches in length was taken from the stream by a small boy during the past week.

GLENDALE POEM ATTRACTS FAVOR

Huntington Is Author of Verses to Be Used In Bowl Drive

Dedicated to Mrs. J. J. Carter of Hollywood, Stephen W. Huntington of Glendale wrote the following poem and presented it last Saturday afternoon at a meeting of the Hollywood Bowl association. Their publicity department has announced that it has attracted much favorable comment and that it will be used in the bowl campaign now under way. It is entitled "The Musical Bowl!":

"I sing of the joys of The Hollywood Bowl,
Where ravishing music will charm every soul.
When Masters of Melody from East and West,
Come bearing their offerings of Harmony's best
And play it and sing it where Nature is blessed.

"A wonderful Forum encircled by hills,
The sense of well being with moonlight and thrills:
Such is the joy of the Bowl! So brimming with pleasure,
Where else could one revel in Music at leisure?

"Just think of the price, it's 'two bits' for a seat,
That to all music-lovers will mean a great treat.
Buy a Book for yourself with two or three friends,
Use the seats as you will until the Book ends.

"Oh! yes, I must tell you before it's too late,
There are 40 seats in the books that will not last forever,
And, truth I avow,
So hasten your pocketbooks! Buy a Book now.

"What's sweeter than Music that touches the soul?
Flow no limit at Hollywood Bowl!
With the 'Stars' on the stage and the Stars overhead
Will be famous Directors, whose fame is widespread.

"Great Walter Damrosch, who hails from New York,
Rudolph Ganz of St. Louis whose 'Lullaby' is so sweet,
Walter H. Rothwell, Philharmonic, L. A.,
Cincinnati's Fritz Reiner, he also will play;
Madam Ethel Leginska, Conductor much quoted,
And Sir Henry Wood—Director so noted,
And Leopold Stokowski, Philadelphia, Pa.,
Directs Symphonies marvelous—so the folks say."

By ROBERT MACK
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.
WASHINGTON, April 8.—The radiant energy division of the patent office is soon to spread its tent in new quarters more than twice the size of its present headquarters. With the increase of personnel in this division made during the past six months and the pruning of the activities of the section until they now include only radio and telephony—so closely interwoven that their separation is impossible—Commissioner Thomas E. Robertson said that in its new home the staff soon will clear its files of pending cases.

The past year, according to Commissioner Robertson, the radiant energy division has caught up approximately two months and a half of its back work and has now on its docket no case which is more than about five months old. At one time before the office had had an opportunity to adjust itself to the flood of radio ideas which were poured in upon it, the radiant energy section was almost a year and a half behind in its final action on new cases.

BRIDGE NEEDS CONSIDERED BY CITY

Chamber Says Glendale To Take Lead In Urging River Spanning

Glendale will take the lead in a concentrated effort to have the county Board of Supervisors assist in building new bridges across the Los Angeles river at Glendale boulevard and Fletcher drive. This city will invite every community from Santa Monica to San Bernardino that would benefit by the proposed bridges, to join in an effort to get financial assistance from the county in constructing the bridges.

Children Use Dynamite As 'Funny Sticks'

SAN PEDRO, April 8.—Children must play and sometimes it takes little to make them happy. At Santa Cruz and North Center streets here today, several youngsters were having a great time chasing each other with sticks of dynamite they had found in the road. They were said to have hurled the "funny" sticks at each other and used them for fencing foils until Officer Fuller arrived upon the scene, at the request of frantic parents, and put an end to their childish pleasure. A total of twenty-one sticks of the explosive are said to have fallen from a truck, and it was these children were throwing about as carelessly as though they were sticks of wood. When only nineteen sticks could be found in the possession of the children suspicion was directed toward a goat.

WHEREABOUTS OF HIMES IS MYSTERY

Foul Play Suspected When Glendallian Fails To Return Home

No trace had been found today of Hollis T. Himes, 718 West Pioneer drive, who disappeared early Monday morning after he had received a number of threats against his life by mail and by telephone. Los Angeles and Glendale police are tracing clues that lead them to believe he has met with foul play at the hands of friends of L. L. Jones, leader of an auto-bandit gang, now serving a sentence in San Quentin penitentiary. Himes was instrumental in obtaining Jones' conviction, and was the principal witness for the state. He recently received a note mailed at the arcade station in Los Angeles in which he was threatened for his work in the Jones case. Himes left his home in Glendale at 6:30 Monday morning to

Suspect In Bad Check Case Is Freed On Bail

L. L. Walton, arraigned yesterday before Police Judge F. H. Lowe on a charge of issuing fictitious checks, will be released today on $1500 cash bail, to be deposited by his mother, Mrs. A. L. Walton, Long Beach.

Hearing was set by Judge Lowe for April 20 at 2 o'clock. Walton was arrested after he is alleged to have passed five checks totaling $96 on Glendale merchants. His capture was due to the activity of the Glendale Merchants' association cooperating with the police department. Police say he has signed a complete confession.

CHARITY FUND OF ELKS UP IN LEAD

Glendale Lodge Ranks Third Of California Chapters In Relief Work

Glendale Elks lodge is third among lodges of California in charitable work and ranks ahead of 1446 lodges in the United States in charity funds collected and disbursed among needy and unfortunate persons. Only fifty-one Elks organizations in the nation rank Glendale lodge in relief work. These facts are brought out in the annual report of Stanley E. Frentz, chairman of the sick and relief committee of Glendale lodge, made public today.

People Capable of Deciding Whom They Desire In Office

For the past two months or more the columns of The Glendale Evening News have been left open to the citizens of Glendale to present the names of candidates to be voted upon for the office of councilmen at the municipal election on April 14, which is one week from today. Of all the candidates presented in that manner, twenty-one qualified and had their nomination papers filed with the city clerk.

A brief but complete biographical sketch was published, giving all possible information to the voters as to the qualifications of the man seeking the office.

With all the above information, The Glendale Evening News leaves the case in the hands of a mass of intelligent voters to decide. The editor of The Glendale Evening News' acquaintance with the keen intellectual independence of the people does not at any time presume to take from their hands the right to select their choice for councilman. We ask no candidate to pledge himself to The Glendale Evening News.

Below are the names of the twenty-one candidates for City Council, five of whom are to be elected; the names of the six candidates for city treasurer, one of whom is to be elected; the names of the two candidates for city clerk, one of whom is to be elected.

Chamber Back Of Bowl Concerts This Summer

Directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce went on record yesterday endorsing efforts of the Hollywood Bowl association to make the Bowl concerts this year state-wide in their scope and interest through an extensive ticket-selling campaign in all Southern California cities. H. S. McCormick is Glendale chairman of the Bowl association.

Directors Fred Deal and Arthur Campbell told the directors that efforts were being made to acquire a location for a temple to art and drama in Glendale. The Chamber of Commerce will co-operate with the Drama League in attempting to secure a free site for such an art institute in the city.

Security Benefit Club Calls Meet Tomorrow

A meeting of Glendale council, No. 3696, Security Benefit association, will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at Hahn's hall. All Glendale members are invited to be present. Mrs. Frances Robinson of 621 West Milford street is financier for the association.

Oratorical Trophy Is Donated By Chamber

Contestants in the district high school oratorical contest in Glendale, on April 17, will vie for a silver loving cup offered to the winner by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. Seven high schools of the valley will be represented in the district contest in Glendale. The winner of this event will not only carry off the Chamber of Commerce trophy, but will become a contestant in the Southern California finals at Los Angeles on April 24. The winner in the finals will go to Washington, D. C., to compete for national honors.

Wife's Suitor Pleads To Killing Husband

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 8.—Breaking down after a long grilling Joseph Friaa, of Pittston, Pa., today confessed killing James Lemardy for the love of Lemardy's attractive wife, Margaret. Friaa's confession came after Mrs. Lemardy, at first suspected of complicity in the slaying with another alleged lover, Joseph Provenzano, 22, told police of Friaa's threats to kill her husband unless she eloped with him.

BUY-AT-HOME MEASURE IS SUGGESTED

Chamber Told Sur-Charge On Building Would Insure Local Patronage

In an effort to force building contractors to trade in Glendale and employ only Glendale labor, the city building department may be asked to attach a sur-charge to all building permits issued in the city, the amount of this charge to be remitted to the contractor when he proves satisfactorily that all labor and materials came from Glendale.

A plan which would provide for a stipulated sur-charge when building permits are issued, the amount of the charge to be a fixed per cent of the amount of the permit, was discussed by directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce yesterday as a contemplated part of their trade-at-home campaign.

Education Fails
 "Education has failed as a means of bringing about trading at home in many instances," Director Frank Fox said in advocating the proposed plan. "If we cannot educate people to buy their building materials in Glendale and hire Glendale men in building homes, we will have to take other surer means of accomplishing this result. Home-building is our greatest industry and must be protected."

It was declared by advocates of the building permit charge that the proposed plan was strictly legal and would not work a hardship on local contractors. It is specially designed, on the contrary, to prevent outside contractors from taking jobs in Glendale and then purchasing all materials in other localities and bringing their laborers in from the outside. The plan has the approval of the city attorney's office, the building department and Glendale labor unions. A number of contractors have also favored it, it was said.

Opposition Raised
 President D. H. Smith of the chamber and Directors Fox, Harry G. MacBain, Arthur Campbell, Dr. T. C. Young, Fred Deal and C. W. Ingledue favored the plan. Points of opposition were raised by Director George Karr, who expressed himself as opposed to building a tariff wall about the city.

Definite action of the chamber was deferred until details of the plan have been worked out by a joint committee, composed of the trade-at-home and civics committee of the chamber.

WAR BEGETS WAR

When we told our boys eight years ago they were to go to war to end all war forever, we lied to them, and yet we emerged from that great conflict much better than might have been expected. We are indeed fortunate that the armistice did not leave this nation with another war hanging directly over our heads. Look back in history and see how many times the terms upon which one war is ended constitute the foundation for the next. The conquering side imposes such terms upon the vanquished enemy as must lead to an effort to acquire the strength with which to break them. Consider the case of the Franco-Prussian war and the disposition of Alsace and Lorraine at the close of that war. The terms of settlement between Germany and France in 1872 were a thorn in the flesh which festered and came to a head in the late World war.

While our own Civil war left a bitterness which lasted all too many years, yet Lincoln's policy of no punishment, no reparations, no acquisition from the defeated, no exacting terms, precluded the possibility of a growing hatred for the north on the part of the south that would have developed into another war. Southern bitterness, through the years, has been dying down because there was nothing in the terms of settlement to keep feeding it until it should burst again into flame. In the late war, also, the United States brought home no spoils. Today we have the good-will of our vanquished enemy.

But in Europe all is different. The Versailles treaty has stirred up bitterness on every side. Its terms cannot be carried out, for no nation is satisfied with them. Poland has absorbed portions of Germany and Russia and these countries will never be satisfied with this consummation. Both Germany and England refused to sign the protocol because it required defense of the present national boundaries. Germany would agree to the western boundaries even to the extent of giving up Alsace, but she would not put herself in a position that would prevent her from re-establishing her old boundaries on the east. Poland not only demands that the present eastern boundaries of Germany be respected, but she wants still more German territory, and France must abet Poland in her demands, since she looks to that country as a vital factor in her plan of defense against future reprisals from Germany. The treaty which was to have made war impossible has become a veritable casus belli.

EASTER HATS

Whether President Coolidge buys a new hat for Easter or has his old one cleaned would seem to be his own business, although the hat makers claim he is setting the country a horrible example in sending his old hat to be renovated. And the president's decision not to buy a new hat this spring may not be without its effect. The man who cannot afford a new spring lid will feel much more comfortable on Easter morning in one that has been cleaned and touched up with a new band when he recalls that the president of the United States is also appearing in a head piece of last year's vintage.

The policy of President Coolidge is to live within his income, and his frugality is a splendid pattern for the United States in this era of extravagance and waste. Living beyond one's income always leads to disaster and unhappiness.

But there is danger of swinging too far in the opposite direction. If you can afford a new hat, by all means have one. There is no excuse for not living well if one has the means. It is a happy family who can use sufficient judgment in dispensing the family income so as to avoid extravagance on the one hand and parsimony on the other. It may be extravagant for you to have a new hat and it may be miserly for you not to have one. But after all it is your own affair whether you buy or not, and the president of the United States should have the same privilege of using his own judgment in the matter of buying an Easter hat.

POLITICS IN THE LEGISLATURE

A measure has been introduced at Sacramento by Senator Boggs of Stockton and Senator Handy of Ukiah that would eliminate partisan politics from the Legislature. The bill provides that the names of candidates for the Assembly and the Senate shall be placed on the non-partisan ballot after the manner of judicial and county officers. Other western states already have such a law and have proven it logical and beneficial.

It is contended that the adoption of such a law would raise the standard of membership in the Legislature by basing the campaign for election on merit rather than party affiliation, and would take cognizance of the fact that party politics has nothing to do with state affairs. As a matter of fact many candidates secure both the Republican and the Democratic nominations, so the party designation means nothing.

Formerly members of boards of supervisors and judges were chosen because of their political affiliation, and no one would consider going back to the old system in the election of these officials. States that have made their legislatures non-partisan would not return to the old way either.

RAINS BRING CONFIDENCE

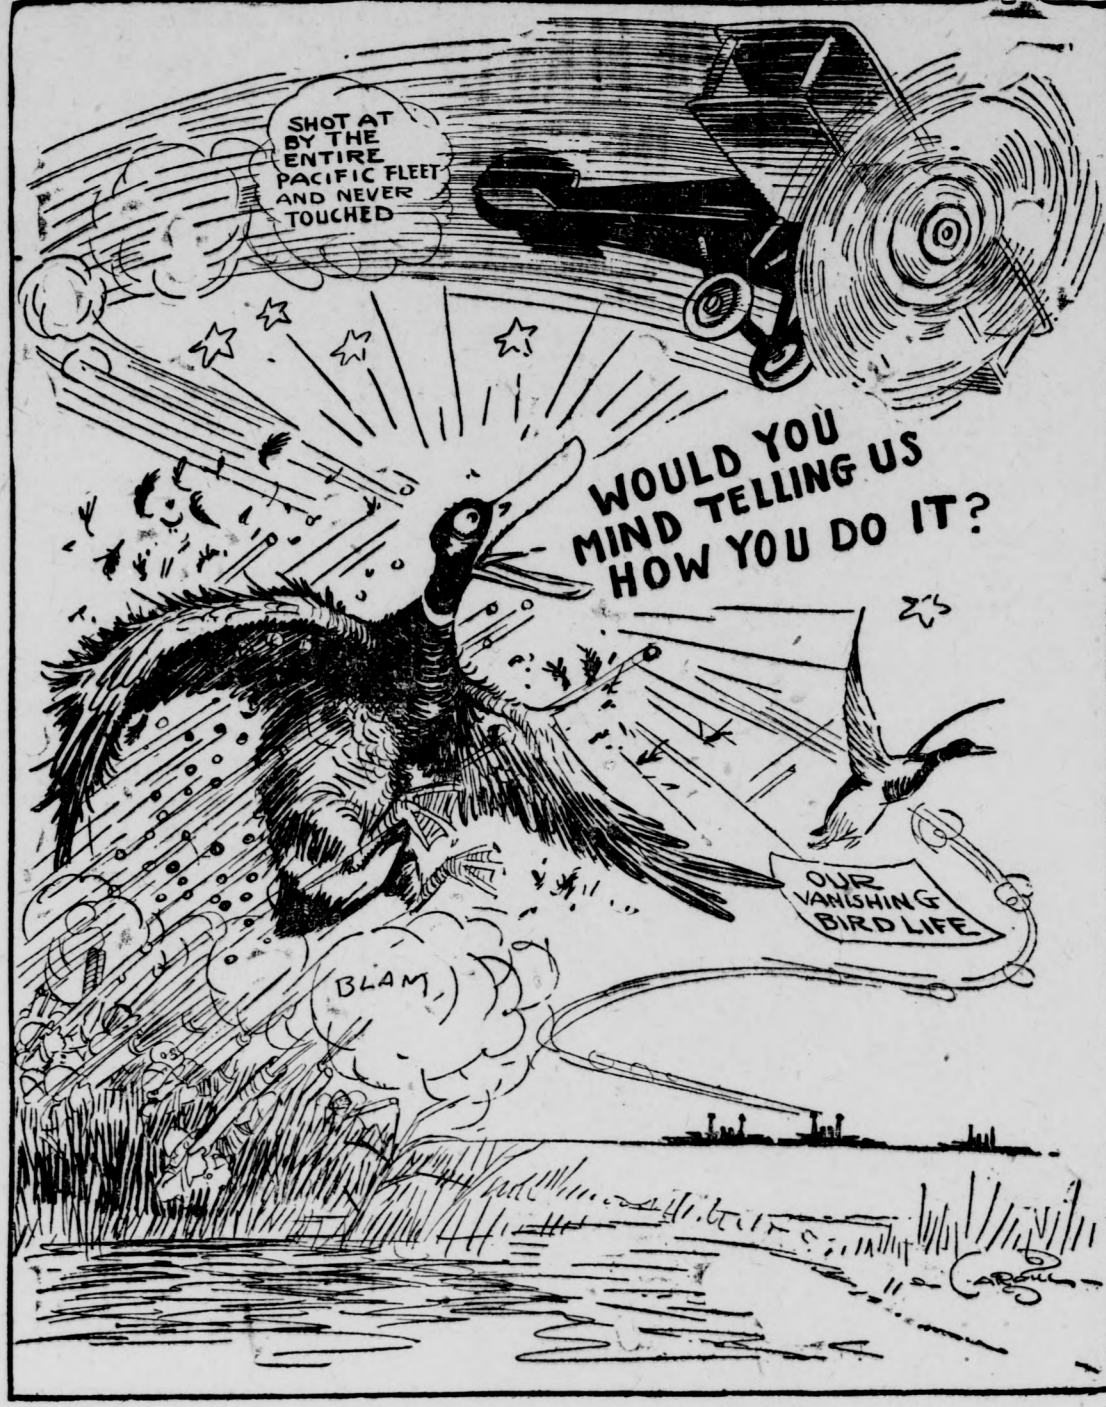

Everywhere the hills and fields and lawns are green and the flowers are blooming, and the psychological effect of the recent rains is no less apparent than the verdure of the vegetation. Californians were getting a little touchy when they heard the song, "It Ain't Agoin' to Rain No More," and pessimists in certain quarters, after three seasons of decreased rainfall, were certain that California was slipping back into its desert condition. But with the assurance of plenty of water in the ground and an abundance of snow on the mountains for irrigation and power generation, and with the knowledge that all parts of the state have been blessed by the rain, everyone is happy, a feeling of confidence has returned and increased business activity is noticeable. The trite expression, "a million-dollar rain," is not so fanciful as it sounds. The late rains are worth many millions to California.

If the women keep on learning the professions, a wife of the future can't expect much from her husband except moral support.

Europe may not be destroyed, but the plucked tourist who returns voices the hope that it will be.

Some states are legislating against the road hog. This will do much to popularize "pork" legislation.

THE CALL OF THE WILD

The Steam Line

By DR. FRANK CRANE

An important element of speed is the shape of the body as well as the power in it. Airplanes go fast not only because they have high motor power, but because they are so shaped as to minimize the resistance of the air.

It is essential in creating a fast-moving automobile that the body should have a stream line. An airplane the other day flew over 266 miles an hour. Fifteen years ago it was considered an exploit for anything to move fifty miles an hour.

The difference is not only in the amount of motive power a machine can carry, but the lines on which the machine is built.

You may be a humdinger, a teeth-gritter and a go-getter, and all that sort of thing; that is, you may have plenty of force and energy, but if you do not have the ability to get along with people you will not go far.

Polliteness is necessary, and good nature, tact and appearance add to your stream line.

The ability to make friends and to get along with people is not to be despised. It has quite as much to do with your progress as the power you can summon forth.

Many a boy at school complains of his teacher and his tasks, when the trouble is in him. He creates too much resistance.

Of course the stream line is not everything. It does you no good to be simply a good fellow unless you have some driving force within you.

But the stream line is something, and is something which, as an element to your progress, is often overlooked.

It pays not only to have the right force, but to create the least resistance in the exercise of that force.

President Wilson was a man of undoubted force, but he aroused too much opposition for one reason or another.

Of course all kinds of force create opposition, and one can not have decided ideas about anything without being doubted and disputed.

But there is a way to go to things, and the ability to please men is not to be despised.

All of us want to get on, and we should remember that the stream line body has quite as much to do with our ability to make rapid progress as driving force.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

Throughout past aeons the vast and varied life which has overspread the earth can be said to have progressed in subordination to the law that "every individual shall gain by what-ever aptitude it has for fulfilling the conditions of its existence."

Then, Herbert Spencer observed, "the law that each creature shall take the benefits and the evils of its own nature, be they those derived from ancestry or those due to self-produced modifications, has been the law under which life has evolved thus far; and it must continue to be the law however much further life may evolve."

Spencer pointed out that any arrangements which in a considerable degree prevent SUPERIORITY from profiting by the rewards of superiority, or shield INFERIORITY from the evils it entails—any arrangements which tend to make it as well to be INFERIOR as to be SUPERIOR; are arrangements diametrically opposed to the progress of organization and the reaching of a higher life.

"INCAPACITY of every kind and of whatever degree, causes unhappiness directly and indirectly—directly by the pain consequent on the overtaxing of inadequate faculty, and indirectly by the non-fulfillment, or imperfect fulfillment, of certain conditions to welfare."

"Conversely, CAPACITY of every kind sufficient for the requirement, conduces to happiness immediately and remotely—immediately by the pleasure accompanying the normal exercise of each power that is up to its work, and remotely by the pleasures which are furthered by the ends achieved."

"The mentally-inferior individual of any race suffers negative and positive miseries; while the mentally-superior individual receives negative and positive gratifications."

The conclusion forced upon us by Spencer is that the pursuit of INDIVIDUAL HAPPINESS within the limitations prescribed by social conditions, is the first requisite to the attainment of the greatest GENERAL HAPPINESS.

Timely Views

To give the modern child the advantages of the Neolithic and the cave boy should be the aim of education, according to President Henry Fairfield Osborn of the American Museum of Natural History, who, in his annual report, took up the lament of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler on the defects of the modern mind.

"While expenditure has increased a thousandfold," said Professor Osborn, "the average human output has remained the same or has retrogressed since the time of Abelard and may have retrogressed since the time of the cave man."

"The cave boy certainly has advantages which our boys have ceased to enjoy; he was surrounded on all sides by vibrant nature, full of inspiring and wonderful phenomena, which filled him with reverence and awe, if not with superstition."

"His father and mother, at least in the Cro-magnon period, carefully instructed him, not only in flint making, but in the rudiments of art, while his sisters taught him to sew and cook. Education was part of his daily struggle for existence. The boy's survival depended on his aptness in working, in learning and in imitation."

"Even in the far more remote Neolithic times, the stern master, which we now designate the 'struggle for existence,' was ever by the side of the boy and girl; compulsory education took this primal form. Under these two teachers, the 'compelling struggle for existence' and 'inspiring nature,' the Neolithic boy and the cave boy attended school regularly. The only check to their progress was the lack of the arts of writing and printing, whereby what they learned and acquired intellectually could be passed on to future generations."

WHOS WHO
Through the resignation of William H. Beck, as secretary and special assistant to him, Frank B. Kellogg, secretary of state, has kept by his side the one man who knows intimately the policies and state secrets of Secretary Kellogg's three predecessors in the state department. He is ranked as one of the most efficient men in the state department. That Kellogg made Beck's appointment before all others indicates that he was aware of the latter's worth. Beck's services have also extended to such outside events as the Paris Peace conference, the Washington Arms conference and developments attending the visits of the secretaries to England, France, Belgium, Germany, Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina.

TRUSTEE SALE TO DISPOSE OF ESTATE

Palatial Glendale Home of Late John Brockman Is To Be Sold

The Glendale estate of the late John Brockman, one of the show places of this city, will be sold as soon as possible and the proceeds divided among the heirs, it was learned today. The sumptuous home, set in the midst of 100 acres, highly landscaped, is valued at between $250,000 and $500,000. The main entrance to the estate is 201 Kenneth drive. Sale of the place will be handled by the Security Trust & Savings bank, trustee of the estate, under the provisions of a trust established by Brockman several years ago. Although an effort will be made to dispose of it intact, it is thought that it may be necessary to sell it piecemeal.

Daughter Survives
Mrs. Charles C. Thompson, the only daughter surviving Brockman, who has lived in the home since the death of her mother in 1913, is the chief beneficiary under the trust. The estate will aggregate about $2,000,000. While Brockman owned the Brockman building at Seventh street and Grand avenue and had leased the land upon which the J. W. Robinson building stands, the value of the estate must be predicated upon the earning power of the properties, according to officials of the Security Trust & Savings bank. Nearly half a hundred other relatives will benefit to a smaller degree than Mrs. Thompson by the division of the estate.

JONES GUEST AT PYTHIANS' MEET

Local Knights Hear Grand Deputy, Former Chaplain In Navy, Speak

Chaplain W. S. Jones, grand deputy of the Knights of Pythias of California, was present last night at the meeting of Glendale lodge, No. 331, Knights of Pythias, held at the Knights of Pythias hall, corner of South Brand boulevard and Park avenue.

Mr. Jones is chancellor commander of Gauntlet lodge, Los Angeles, and for twenty years was chaplain in the United States navy. He spoke and presented the lodge with a framed eulogy on deceased Pythians. Judge Gates of Los Angeles was also present and spoke. Glendale lodge will have charge of the annual memorial services, to be held at Forest Lawn Memorial park, according to decision reached last night at the meeting of the district convention.

GLENDALE SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL

The Glendale Symphony orchestra added new laurels to its collection and to the city of Glendale last night at the concert given at the sanitarium. The audience was a record-breaker in size and enthusiasm, not only filling the spacious parlor but partially filling the lobby. Not many cities the size of Glendale can boast of an orchestra that plays as well as does the municipal orchestra. J. Arthur Myers is to be congratulated on the excellent program given last night. Glendale was given another boost, because in the audience were sanitarium guests from many cities and states.

Added pleasure was given to the audience by Milford Jackson, whose beautiful baritone voice always gives pleasure to his hearers. He sang two groups of songs, which were greeted with thunderous applause. The sanitarium management entertained the members of the orchestra and others who took part in the program at a banquet preceding the concert.

Boy Scout Experts In Minority At Chamber

Wanted—Three Boy Scout committeemen. For five months the Glendale Chamber of Commerce has sought three men in Glendale who will be willing to serve as members of the Chamber Boy Scout committee. To date, efforts have been fruitless. Already three chairmen have been appointed to this committee and each one in turn has declined to serve because other duties would not permit. Secretary Howard I. Wood, of the chamber, is hot on the trail of several prospects, but says he would greatly appreciate a volunteer, three of them, in fact.

Summer Is Coming

--Its Lovely Clothes Are Already Here!

Light Frocks Suited to Bright Afternoons

For sunshine hours devoted to tea or bridge, these Dresses are ideal. Printed silk Frocks with good times written in them sail the fashion sea from checks and dots to blossoms and wrought iron trees. And then there are these delightful crepe de Chine Frocks that start out to be demure with the simplest drawn-work trimming but find it difficult to resist some frivolous fling and appear in striking colors. There is summer pleasure stored up for you in these billowing Silk Frocks so modestly priced at $16.75 and $25.

The Smart Ensemble Now Styles Itself for Comfort

Finally there has been created a perfect something for wear in the season of warm days and cool evenings—the sheer Ensemble Costume! A Costume for you to wear immediately, a Costume to accompany you on vacation jaunts. It may have a slim, transparent coat through which peeps gaily the print of a girlish dress; or it may combine a blossom-like frock of crepe de Chine with a pertly tailored cloth coat. But the sheer Ensemble, you will find, always has something new to tell in addition to its tale of practicality. Priced $25 and up to $89.50.

Smart Little Topcoats for All-around Wear

A trim little Topcoat in a cashmere fabric or tweed is just what you will need for a dozen and one summer uses. For traveling, this kind of Coat will fit in with any frock and any hat and be altogether indispensable. We are having a special showing of the very newest models of which smart double-breasted effects and flaring hem lines are typical. The very interesting prices are $16.75 and $25.

Since Hannibal Hurst's death, this odd fad for a darkened house, which Evadne had told him originated in a dispute with the lighting company, had been ignored and the house was now properly lighted. He had no difficulty, therefore, in finding his way. As he stepped behind him, he stood for a moment listening. There was silence. Again he listened, depending over the railing of the back stairs. Again silence. On tiptoe he stole down the corridor. His hand trembled as he laid it on the knob of Evadne's door. Slowly it opened. The tentative light revealed only one darkness. So he stepped back—Marie was not there. He felt along the wall, found the electric switch. As the room flashed on him in all its austere simplicity, his impulse was to turn away his eyes. But "Imagination again," he murmured. "What a lot Shakespeare knew! Conscience certainly does make cowards of us all." He closed the drawers softly, looked that all was as he found it, and turned. Again a sound! His hands leaped and stopped. The handle of the door was slowly opening! For the first time in that house of tragedy he was trapped. Behind him, a temporary refuge, but the only one, was the darkened studio.

Perhaps in the darkness he might escape notice. Probably not. Marie came to the door to prepare her mistress's room for the night. In that case she might not enter the studio. While he thought, he acted. Before the door could open to admit the newcomer, he was crouching behind an easel on which stood a large vase. A smaller one resting on a table against the wall further sheltered him. From here he could see the door and part of the adjoining room. The door remained half

ED. F. HEISSER IS SEEKING COUNCIL

Prominent In Civic Affairs
And Successful In Business Life

Ed F. Heisser of 351 Riverdale drive, prominent Mason, is busily engaged in promoting his candidacy for Glendale city councilman. During the three years Mr. Heisser has resided in Glendale, he has taken active interest in municipal affairs.

He organized the Independent Lumber Co., 522 North San Fernando road, serving as secretary and general manager. To the organization he brought a background of success, for he has been associated with the lumber business virtually all his life. Prior to coming to Glendale and establishing himself in the lumber business here, he spent ten years in the same business at Fargo, N. D.

Well Qualified

Mr. Heisser was born in Minneapolis, where he received his early education. He has traveled extensively through the United States and several foreign countries.

In addition to his Masonic affiliations, Mr. Heisser is an Elk and also a member of the Knights of Pythias.

Mr. Heisser was one of the Glendale men to receive over fifty nominations in The Glendale Evening News' nominations for City Council campaign, conducted some weeks ago.

The United States supplies 60 per cent of Cuba's imported foodstuffs, as compared with 45 per cent before the war.

HUMORIST PICKED FOR CHAUTAUQUA

Comedy-Cartoonist Chosen
For Glendale Season
On April 23

Alton Packard, the comedy cartoonist and humorist, who carried the record for drawing the largest single ticket audience on the entire Chautauqua and Lyceum circuits, has been selected to open the Chautauqua season program here Thursday night, April 23.

Formerly a newspaper cartoonist whose work became known throughout the country for its kindly humor and aptitude of "Point," Mr. Packard's skill as an artist and his many other natural accomplishments eventually led him to the platform.

In giving an artistic setting to Mr. Packard's talents no expense has been spared. He carries an electrical illuminating system producing light and color effects which are startling in spectacular surprise, charming in artistic quality and brilliant.

Chautauqua tickets are on sale at Lexington Drug store, 400 North Brand; Roberts & Echols Drug store, Ingledue Realty, 109 South Glendale, Glendale Bookstore, 113 South Brand; Maryland Drug store, Maryland and Wilson; Glendale Savings bank.

Proposed Bridges Are Considered By C. of C.

Chamber of Commerce instructed L. T. Rowley, chairman of the highways and bridges committee, to take steps to bring all cities together on the bridge matter, after Mr. Rowley had attacked the policy of the supervisors in spending all their San Fernando valley money in the upper part of the valley between Chatsworth and San Fernando.

Chambers Hit
Mr. Rowley struck at the Associated Chambers of Commerce when he said that, although a fair representation had been promised by that body in the event Glendale remained a member, in reality this had not been the case. Road committees to which he had been appointed had not been permitted to function, he said, the explanation being that "everything the associated chambers wanted they were getting." Mr. Rowley said Glendale wanted bridges in the Atwater district, but that this matter was not being given any great amount of support.

The Chamber of Commerce will issue an invitation to all cities along the Foothill boulevard and Santa Monica boulevard to join in a demand upon the supervisors that funds be provided to assist in building the proposed bridges.

Expense Divided
It was pointed out by Mr. Rowley that a portion of the expense would be borne by Los Angeles and another portion by the Pacific Electric railroad. County funds will be necessary to make possible the construction of the two new bridges, he said. Plans for the bridges at Glendale boulevard and the Fletcher drive span call for the expenditure of $1,250,000.

In his report to the board of directors, Mr. Rowley censured the upper valley organizations for their "over-eagerness" to push Riverside drive through. Mr. Rowley said rights-of-way had not been secured for Riverside drive through Dark canyon and that authorities had stated on several occasions that efforts to have the road completed were premature. That county funds had been promised for new bridges at Atwater Park by Supervisor Henry Wright during his last campaign for election, was brought to the attention of the board. Bridges over the river at Glendale boulevard and Fletcher drive are among the few projects calling for bond issues that have received the endorsement of City Engineer Van Norman of Los Angeles, it was stated by Percy J. Hayselden.

Charity Fund of Elks Ranks Up In Front

was expended by the committee in bringing joy into hundreds of homes and relieving suffering and want in hundreds of cases. More than enough money to cover these expenditures was subscribed by members of the lodge, there being a surplus on hand on January 1, 1925 and at present a balance of over $4,000 to continue the work during the next eight months, Mr. Frenz said.

1634 Sick Calls
The sick and relief committee made 1634 calls where distress and sickness were involved during the past year, nearly 1000 cases of want and poverty were relieved by donations of cash and groceries, over 75 persons, men, women and children, were given clothing from the charity locker at the Elks clubhouse.

Elks attended the funerals of 66 persons during the year. They furnished automobiles in 368 different instances to carry mourners and traveled nearly 15,000 miles in pursuit of their obligatory precept, "bury the dead."

Christmas Cheer
The detailed report of Mr. Frenz shows that $500 worth of candy was distributed among children at Christmas and other times of the year, that 115 pairs of woolen blankets were given to needy families, 136 pairs of shoes furnished and over $3,387 worth of groceries distributed. Fifty-two men and women were found employment by the committee.

Mr. Sam Davis,
Glendale, California.

Dear Mr. Davis: I am very glad to note that you have again entered the race for City Council and feel sure that you will be successful. Probably more than any other man you are responsible for Glendale having a satisfactory sewerage system. While there have been matters in which I have differed with you, nevertheless I have no hesitancy in saying that in every case you stood for those things which you felt to be right and for the best interest of this city, and I shall be glad to assist in any way that I am able in your candidacy for re-election.

Very truly yours,

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Mr. M. E. Plasterer was for nearly ten years in complete charge of the accounting of the Oldsmobile Co. at Los Angeles, first as a factory branch and later, when I took over their business on the Coast, he became secretary and treasurer of the Oldsmobile Co. of California, with complete charge of the very important accounting of both the home office and two branches in a business that ran close to a million dollars per year.

He continued in this capacity as long as I myself was at the head of the business and only left when there was a complete change of ownership.

I cannot recommend him too highly. He is intelligent, conscientious and efficient, has had broad experience in business of unusual size and intricacy and I know of no man whom I would consider better qualified to fill a position that demanded absolute integrity and a detailed knowledge of large scale accounting methods.

ALL-AMERICAN PROGRAM IS GIVEN

Homer Grunn, Lester Castle
And Ruth May Shaffner
Delight Audience

Glendale Music club demonstrated its ever-active support of American music and musicians last night at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse in the wonderful program that was not only all-American, but all-Californian—as well, one of the entertaining artists being a native daughter of California, and all three being residents of the state.

Homer Grunn, the celebrated pianist and composer of Indian music; Ruth May Shaffner, California soprano; and Lester Hugo Castle, were the artists presenting the program.

Grunn shares honors with Cadman in the creation of Indian music, and of special interest to Glendale people is the fact that some of his colorful compositions are used as musical settings for poems by Charles O. Roos, Glendale resident. Mr. Grunn has a beautiful touch and bigness of sound quality and it is a delight to hear him whether in accompaniment or in piano solo work. Although Mr. Roos did not respond from the call from the stage to make an appearance, Mr. Grunn took occasion to pay high tribute to his genius as poet.

Mrs. Jones speaks Miss Shaffner, who appeared with Mr. Grunn during the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs last June in Los Angeles, won added honors last night. She possesses a beautiful soprano voice with a phrasing and tonal effect of delightful finish and timbre, and her pleasing and artistic singing was most enthusiastically received.

Equally as talented is Mr. Castle, whose fine musicianship was demonstrated in his song groups. Mrs. Mattison Boyd Jones, club president, spoke before the program. She announced the annual meeting and election of officers Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the music room at Harvard High school, to be attended by active club members; a meeting of the junior auxiliary a week from next Friday, the time and place to be announced, and the Schubert program of the artists' section, April 20, at the home of Miss Gertrude Cleophas, 337 North Central avenue.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Americans like to be "sold" on their own stuff. They are willing buyers if proof is given them that the article is a necessity.

The United States navy has a large part of its Atlantic and Pacific fleets on review in coast ports. The people have turned out by the hundreds of thousands in San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco to cheer their fighting men and admire their war ships.

And as they see this floating arm of defense in all of its majesty they wonder at the scrapping of near-complete vessels recently, for what America has—as we all know—the other great powers have, or hope to have.

Now it is not that they want warships for war alone. Nor are they entirely essential to preparedness. But they are great arguments for peace. Likewise, a fit and ready citizenry is a good argument with any other nation when rights are being meddled.

Would that this nation thought more of airplanes as a matter of defense, preparedness and peace.

Thank heaven the visitation of the combined fleets to San Francisco has taken the edge off of the Ellingson girl's trial.

It never struck the writer that this young tigress was a heroine, as is Clara Phillips, in the eyes of some young flappers.

And it is only natural that their sanity be questioned. Prison authorities actually believe Clara Phillips would slay another if she had opportunity, it is said. Which is proof conclusive that she is not mentally sound. Certainly, the happy, carefree sailors are a better topic of conversation, in San Francisco, or any other city.

The mechanical age is upon us. Machine transmission of news, telegraphic transmission of pictures, speaking films which may be displayed night or day, radio-casting and a host of other things might be mentioned.

It would appear that the twentieth century will develop a race of mere automatons. Turn a dial and you have the latest music, or played on a recording piano, or phonograph, although thankfully there is still some personality left.

Press a button and a copywriting tape brings the latest news if the editor feels the personal element is no longer essential in transmission.

You can preserve type on a monotype roll, like music is canned for the player piano; you can film your children every day of their growth for posterity to wonder at; you can see a likeness of a friend a thousand miles away in a few minutes. It is to wonder, what next?

Fair Guest at Club Bazaar

MISS LAURA LaPLANTE, motion picture star, who will be present at the bazaar to be staged Friday and Saturday nights, April 10 and 11 at Oakmont Country club.

Oakmont Country club will be the setting on Friday and Saturday nights for the most brilliant event of the season, when a bazaar will be staged at the clubhouse. Miss Laura LaPlante, well-known motion picture star, will be present in person at both nights of the affair.

Miss LaPlante is recognized as the most beautiful blonde in motion pictures. Valuable prizes will be given away on the last night. Included in the prizes is a 1925 sport model, Buick touring car and a lot at Frazier Mountain Park. The Buick touring car is being given as a prize through courtesy of Hall & Tanner, local agents, and the lot has been obtained through a generous offer of A. L. Baird, one of the directors of Oakmont Country club and president of the Frazier Mountain Park & Fisheries Co.

Entertainment features will be in charge of Mrs. Harold Skeath, chairman of the entertainment committee. Mrs. Max Green is chairman of committee on arrangements for the bazaar and Mrs. A. L. Baird has charge of distribution of tickets.

Following is a list of the booths and those in charge: Mrs. Riser and Miss Cunningham, fish pond; Mrs. E. U. Emery, Mrs. R. E. Puffer, grocery booth; Mrs. Ellison, Mrs. Worley, Mrs. Hayselden, Mrs. Morrow, Mrs. Sawtelle and Mrs. C. L. Smith, fancywork booth; Mrs. Jack Cook, Mrs. Hatz and Mrs. Menk, candy booth; Mrs. Drummond and Mrs. Russell, fortune telling booth; Mrs. Freeman and Mrs. Bowman, buffet; Max Green, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Marvin Smith and Mrs. A. G. Smith, dancing concession; Mrs. Briggs, Mrs. Temple and Mrs. Ayars tearoom; Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Herald and Mrs. Rysor, ice cream cones; Mrs. Converse and Miss McCleskey, perfume booth; Mrs. Tanner, Mrs. Stillman, Mrs. Hollister and Mrs. Brown, cooked food booth; Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Houser and Miss Lulu Lanterman, miscellaneous booth; Mrs. Harold Skeath and Mr. Freeman, music booth.

The purpose of the bazaar is to raise funds for the swimming pool which will be built by directors as soon as enough money is available.

Smiling Walls FULLER WASHABLE WALL FINISH

THE walls of your home!—Silent sentinels of comfort and privacy! Let them be smiling walls that cheer and soothe—that contribute their full share to that indefinable something we call "home atmosphere."

Creation of harmonious wall effects has its practical side, too. And here Washable Wall Finish comes to your aid with its two-fold service—its artistic effects and its help in good home-keeping!

First, Washable Wall Finish is easily applied by unpracticed hands! Then, it yields those mellow tints and shades so long monopolized by Kalsomine. And, a damp cloth quickly removes soil from your walls, restoring their original freshness—impossible with other kinds of wall finishes.

This is because Washable Wall Finish is a high grade varnish paint. It forms a non-porous surface unaffected by liquids. Comes in many beautiful shades and colors, and is applicable on rough or smooth plaster.

Our free book on painting tells you more about wall finishing and other interior home painting and suggests color schemes. Illustrated in colors. Write for it—it's free. Also, ask your Dealer about Fuller Quality Paints and Varnishes, also for color cards and about painting questions. For all large jobs consult a master painter.

Jews Rebuilding Palestine

The Reason

"Millions now living will never die." Among nations, the newly organized Jewish state stands out in marked contrast in its spirit of organization, co-operation and progress.

At a time when universal unrest and discontent threaten the overflow of civilization, the Jewish homeland enjoys peace.

The reorganization of the Jews in Palestine confirms chronologically the significance of present-day events.

This remarkable movement among the Jews marks present world distress as earth's final cataclysm.

ALL-STAR CAST IN GATEWAY FEATURE

Dale Fuller, Norma Shearer In 'Lady Of The Night' Now Showing

Dale Fuller, another of Eric von Stroheim's screen "discoveries," is seen in a unique role in "Lady of the Night," playing today at the Gateway theatre. Norma Shearer is star of the production.

For several years a favorite comedienne in Mack Sennett pictures, Miss Fuller made her entrance into features in "Foolish Wives" and made such a sensation with her work that she is now acclaimed one of the best character actresses on the screen.

Norma Shearer In It

Miss Fuller began her professional career in musical comedy and vaudeville, worked in screen comedies for awhile, then began her work in features. She has played some of her most exceptional parts in "Greed," "Souls For Sale," "Merry-Go-Round," "Three Weeks" and "Reno."

In "Lady of the Night," which is a Monty Bell production, Miss Fuller plays the role of the straitlaced aunt of the heroine, who is easily shocked and shows it on the slightest provocation. Others in the cast are Norma Shearer, Malcolm McGregor, George K. Arthur, Fred Esmelton, Lew Harvey and Betty Morrissey.

There will also be the usual Wednesday evening attraction of select vaudeville.

Girl Students Appear In University Tableau

Miss Lura Boyd Baldwin and Miss Dorothy Cotton are Glendale girls appearing in the dance interpretation of "The Odyssey" which will be presented by students of University of California, southern branch at the athletic conference of American college women to be held tomorrow. The entertainment also will be presented for the public on April 18. Miss Baldwin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Baldwin of 211 East Acacia avenue and Miss Cotton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cotton of 331 El Bonita avenue.

Melodrama

Afflame with the spirit that animates rabid baseball fans, "Life's Greatest Game," Emory Johnson's mighty new melodrama opens today at the Glendale theatre for a two-day showing in conjunction with the appearance of Dobrohoff's imperial balalaika orchestra, to remain in Glendale until tomorrow night.

The film is of especial interest to Glendale. All of the baseball scenes were taken at the Glendale park. The big scenes showing the thousands of baseball fans and an intensely exciting game were filmed during one of the big games held at the park last season. Hundreds of Glendale residents will find themselves pictured in the mob scenes.

"Life's Greatest Game" is the first official baseball picture ever filmed. Dripping with self-sacrifice, the service, the devotion of mother-love, it depicts the home-life of two world's series heroes, father and son. It breathes the humor of boyhood life, the enthusiasm of young manhood, the pathos of old age. It is Emory Johnson's tremendous tribute to clean American sportsmanship.

The cast includes Johnnie Walker, Gertrude Oimstead, Tom Satchi, Jane Thomas, David Kirkby and Dickie Brandon.

Orchestra "Knockout"

Dobrohoff's orchestra, under the personal direction of Alexander Dobrohoff, former leader of the Russian imperial orchestra, St. Petersburg, and musical instructor in the household of the late czar, has stopped the show at every concert since it opened on Sunday. Patrons of the theatre have refused to let them stop until curtain call after curtain call. The members of the orchestra have been given the greatest ovation of any act that ever appeared on the boards of the Glendale theatre.

The weird music produced on the unique instruments made by Dobrohoff himself and the dancing of Nita Lorraine, a Glendale girl, is especially pleasing.

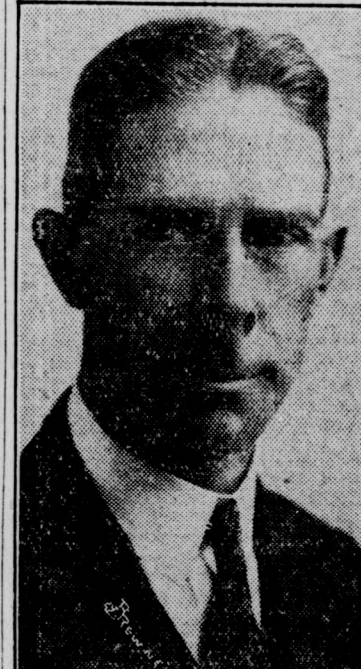

Grand View Scouts To Leave on Tujunga Hike

Grand View troop No. 17, Boy Scouts will leave tonight at 5:30 o'clock from 1123 Justin avenue for a hike to Tujunga where they will remain overnight. J. A. Martin, troop committeeman will accompany the boys and on Thursday, Scoutmaster George W. Thomas will be present and have charge of activities. Scoutmaster Thomas announces that the boys have received a gift of a rowboat from Mr. Budd, of the Grand View district.

Improvement Society Of Northwest in Meet

The Greater Northwest Improvement association will hold its regular monthly meeting in the Grand View school Thursday night at 8 o'clock at which time a number of important committee reports will be made and entertainment provided.

PLAYERS' DRAMA HIGHLY PRAISED

Rich Hollywoodian Compares 'Manna' To 'Mission Play' For Art

Theatrical people have a horror of Holy week—not because they are irreligious—because there are as many church members on the stage as in other walks of life—but because Holy week is death to the theatre; that is, generally speaking.

Strangely enough, this has not been the experience with "Manna" at the Glendale Playhouse. Monday night opened Holy week, and despite a heavy downpour of rain, it brought the second biggest Monday night crowd to the Playhouse, and the biggest audience for the opening of the second week of a play since the theatre opened last October.

Because the Playhouse was leased last night for another engagement which could not be canceled, there was no performance of "Manna," but the production goes on again tonight and all the rest of the week, including Saturday matinee.

Highly Praised

Of course the nature of "Manna" has something to do with it. L. A. Dearholt, a prominent and wealthy resident of Hollywood, who has offices at 6912 Hollywood boulevard and is one of the sponsors of Hollywood Athletic club, voiced the feeling which is in the hearts of many who have seen the play when he said: "Why, it is another Pilgrimage Play—another Mission Play."

Mr. Dearholt thinks so highly of the play that he is sending twenty people to see it tonight and will have another theatre party later in the week. "I wonder if Glendale realizes what a stupendous asset the Dobinson Players is to it," he continued. "I hope and believe that it does, because I have great faith in the future of Glendale, which will be bigger and brighter if it upholds Mrs. Dobinson and her Players."

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, April 8.—Homes in the heavily brush coated watershed district between La Crescenta and the Big Tujunga canyon are to be given two wide firebreak trails to protect the district from ravaging forest and brush fires. Two short trails are now being constructed by the Angeles national forest service.

T. V. Walker has been installed as exalted ruler of the Burbank lodge of Elks with A. C. Fillbach esteemed leading knight. J. B. Brown is secretary and F. F. Scribner treasurer. Installation ceremonies were in charge of District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler H. H. Quinby of Alhambra.

Celebrating three years of successful work since its organization, members of Glendale of the First Baptist church held an interesting program in the church edifice. Rev. J. E. Sanders, Glendale, one of the early workers in the congregation, was the principal speaker.

Burbank business men have been warned by the police department to beware the operations of fictitious check writers now alleged to be operating on a large scale in this city.

The annual Easter concert by the Burbank municipal band, held in the auditorium of the Edison school, was attended by one of the largest audiences in the history of the annual event. Rev. Leon H. Austin, pastor of the Congregational church, delivered an Easter address.

R. E. Roberts, pump and engine dealer of Burbank, was made temporarily blinded when he attempted to do acetylene welding without the protection of colored glasses. He will be forced to remain blindfolded for a week or ten days to permit his eyes to recover their normal vision.

EXPOSITION OKAYED

CENTRAL CHURCH PLANS SERVICES

'Family Night' Tonight With Services Scheduled For Rest Of Week

Family night at the evangelistic services at the Central avenue Methodist church will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock when Rev. George Bennard preaches on the subject, "The Need of Christ in Family Life." A large number of mothers, fathers and children are expected to attend. Mrs. Jessie Fallis, soloist of the Los Angeles Bible Institute, will sing. This marks the second week of the revival campaign and a marked increase in attendance and interest is manifest. Services are being held each day at 10 o'clock when the evangelist gives a Bible exposition.

Tropico Prayer Meet Is Called Off Tonight

Dr. James F. Winnard, pastor of Tropico Presbyterian church, announces there will be no prayer meeting services at his church tonight. He asks members of the congregation to attend revival services at Central avenue Methodist church.

A valuation of all government property is made in Japan every five years.

osition on the deeper things of Christian life.

Subjects for this week will be: Thursday, "The Touch Stone;" Friday, "The Only Way to Become a Bible Christian;" Saturday, "The Worst Disease in the World and Its Remedy." Three services will be held Easter Sunday, the subject for the morning being "The Acid Test of Conversion;" afternoon, "Sanctification, the Most Misunderstood Doctrine in the Bible," and at night, "The Unpardonable Sin or Crossing the Dead Line."

PRAYER MEETING PLANNED TONIGHT

Grand View Church Subject Will Be 'Crucifixion' By Rev. Thomas

Prayer meeting of the Grand View Community church will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Emma Dyer at 1169 Ruberta avenue. Rev. George W. Thomas, pastor, will be in charge and the subject will be "Crucifixion."

Good Friday service will be held at the Grand View school Friday night at 7:30 o'clock with Rev. Thomas in charge. Special music will be rendered. Members of the choir met last night at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Buckman at 1141 Winchester avenue, to practice for the Easter pageant. A rehearsal will be held again on Thursday night at 7 o'clock.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA

April 2nd, 1925.

Mr. Clarence E. Kimlin,
225 East Broadway,
Glendale, California.
Dear Mr. Kimlin:

I am looking back now over the three years that you have spent as a member of the City Council in our City and remember with considerable pleasure the many opportunities that I have had to be present at the Council meetings as well as in attendance at meetings in the committee room, and I can say from my heart that I have never known you to make a decision of any consequence without first thoroughly investigating the matter and informing yourself as to its merits or demerits.

I also remember with pleasure the very kindly consideration you have always manifested to anyone presenting a matter before the Council for consideration.

I consider it an honor and a pleasure to know you as a friend, a good councilman and a Christian gentleman and I am very happy to endorse your candidacy for re-election to the City Council and to state that you may call upon me for any assistance that I may be to you at any time.

Most sincerely yours,

Al G. Barnes' Circus Arrives In Town For 2 Shows At Ball Park

Early this morning the roaring of a lion, mingled with the shrill trumpet of an elephant, was heard in the direction of the railroad station. A small boy, his eyes bulging as wide as saucers, came running down the main street shrieking:

"Hey, fellers! Th' Al G. Barnes wild animal circus has come to town!"

It was true. Just at the break of dawn the big show steamed into the city with its 2000 wild animals, including lions, tigers and only blood-sweating performing hippopotamuses in the world; a horde of yellow-fanged jungle "cats"; great, hulking elephants; sacred and rare beasts from many parts of the world; with domestic stock consisting of 550 horses, 100 of which are valued at more than $112,000.

From his private car stepped the greatest movie-star of them all—the film hero, whose name has been upon the lips of thousands of motion picture fans throughout the country—Joe Martin, himself.

Beautiful Girls
A veritable army of beautiful girls, many of whom were former motion picture actresses, who will make up a part of the gigantic cast for the sensational extravaganza, "Pocahontas at the Court of Queen Anne," the opening feature of the big circus, trooped out upon terra firma.

From another car, and still another, an endless stream of fair women descended. They consisted of the exquisite "corps de equestrienne" which is made up of 100 beautiful and daring riders, and 100 handsome, naturally gold-colored dancing horses. Wild animal trainers began pouring out from the long line of coaches to direct in the removal of their jungle "pets."

Stalking majestically, silently down the railroad tracks marched a large band of Indians with war-painted features. Three tribes from Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico were represented in their midst. They, too, will take part in the colossal feature which heralds the opening of the circus program.

At Ball Park
At the show grounds at the ball park on San Fernando road the great stretches of canvas loomed in taut silhouette almost before the early risers arrived on the scene to watch the ever fascinating work of pitching the big-top. Before many, who had heard of the circus' arrival, appeared on

MONTROSE NOTES

MONTROSE, April 8.—The question of merging with the La Crescenta Improvement association met with stormy discussion for a few minutes last night at the regular business meeting of the Montrose Chamber of Commerce. James Brown opened the meeting. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by George Wales Farrand, new secretary, who had been nominated at the board of directors' meeting to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Frank B. Turner. Mr. Farrand was unanimously elected. Lee Merritt, treasurer, read the financial report which was accepted. In giving the report of the board of directors' meeting Theo Belanger stressed the point that the board felt the merging was the only move for the benefit of the whole valley, as the two groups could work in union for larger improvements than could be procured by smaller groups. He recommended the merger. A letter recommending the move was read from the La Crescenta Improvement association.

Mr. Belanger's recommendation raised a storm of protest for a few seconds when A. B. Cochran made a motion to the effect that the Montrose Chamber of Commerce invite the members of the La Crescenta Improvement association to join the chamber as a body. This motion was seconded by F. L. Howard. Before Mr. Brown could present the question one or two members were on their feet to know how one organization could absorb an other when one had a larger financial standing than the other.

Mark Collins answered, "We should only want the Montrose Chamber of Commerce to put into the common treasury just the amount we do. The balance of their account could be used by them as they see fit."

Mr. Belanger then asked Mr. Cochran to offer an amendment to his motion that the body be invited to join the Montrose Chamber of Commerce under the name of the Montrose-La Crescenta Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Belanger called for the secret ballot as stated in the by-laws with the understanding only members could vote. Motion carried by a large majority. He asked for a meeting of the directors of both bodies for the purpose of revising the by-laws. On motion made by L. Merritt, an attorney will be consulted on the legal points of the merger.

President Brown introduced as a speaker Harold S. Ducey of the county engineers' office. Mr. Ducey had estimates and photographs of the proposed new ornamental lighting standards proposed for the Montrose business grounds, the monster tent had been erected with startling speed.

There was a big crowd at the performance this afternoon. Another performance will be given tonight, starting at 8 o'clock.

HIGHWAYMEN GET $20,000 IN LOOT

Auto Dealer, Party, Victims Of Bandits Going Into Home Driveway

LOS ANGELES, April 8.—Police today combed Southern California and underworld dives in Los Angeles for two bandits who Monday night held up Rene Marx, automobile dealer and his wife and two of their friends and robbed them of valuables, mostly jewels and money totaling $20,000.

The robbery, according to the police report, occurred as the Marx automobile bearing the party, which had been to a theatre, swung into the driveway of the Marx home. The two robbers were said to have leaped on the automobile running board and at the point of guns, demanded the party hand over their jewels and cash.

Mr. Ducey stated it was the lighting system used in San Diego and in Washington, D. C., and recommended it as being the most economical. The district which the petition prays for lighting in this manner is from Ocean View to Park avenue running east and west and Waltham drive to Sparr Heights running north and south. Only the property owners along the streets directly affected will be assessed. However, W. H. Clarke recommended the ornamental lighting system be established.

As chairman of the park committee Mr. Clarke gave a comprehensive outline of the work as being done by his committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Easton, Mrs. C. Ackely and Mrs. H. Fredericks. The committee has collected about $250 in two days for the establishing of the new park at the intersection of Orangedale and Florentia drive. The county has agreed to put in the soil and shrubs after the curbing is in.

A bill rendered by the Youngs Hardware Co. was ordered paid. H. Alden offered a resolution commending Mr. Belanger for his public-spiritedness in erecting such an attractive home for the Montrose postoffice. On call of the chairman, a standing vote was accorded Mr. Belanger who responded with a short speech, the gist of which was a plea for harmony in the workings of the newly merged bodies.

Mr. Brown gave an outline of the splendid work done for the community by the chamber since its beginning, motion in order till May.

Drama section of the La Crescenta Woman's club will meet at the home of Mrs. Charles C. Turck president of the club tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Evangelist Has First Of 'Healing' Meetings

Last night in the tent on North Glendale avenue, before a large crowd Evangelist McConnell explained faith in connection with the things of God, and more especially in connection with healing of the body. "Faith was exercised," he said, "in regard to almost everything in life, and the greatest of all sin was unbelief, in regard to the statements of God in the Bible."

"Christ said that whatsoever we desired when we prayed, if we believed, we had. That included healing for the body."

Mr. McConnell explained that this was the first of the divine healing meetings, and was more by way of instruction, so that faith would grow.

The evangelist said that in London, Canada, some 500 were healed last summer. He challenged the reporter there to bring along the worst cases he could find. He took him at his word, and almost emptied a private hospital. There were "miracles" reported. "Three people who were brought in wheeled chairs," the evangelist said, "walked off the platform pushing their chairs before them."

Reporting last night's "miracles," the evangelist said: "Among those prayed for was a woman who was deaf. She could hear a whisper after the meeting. A girl with stomach trouble, claimed she was healed, and several others said they were relieved."

The next healing service will be on Saturday night, and the evangelist said he would be glad if they would bring along those afflicted, no matter how sick they might be.

Chamber To Pose For Film Showing Air Meet

The story of the Glendale air rodeo and how the event was organized and carried out successfully as a function of the Chamber of Commerce, will be recorded in a moving picture reel, part of which will be taken at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce luncheon club tomorrow noon at the Masonic temple. Pictures of the air rodeo were taken by a Los Angeles moving picture concern during the meet. This film will be shown tomorrow as the main attraction at the luncheon. In addition, views of Chamber of Commerce and city officials who participated in making the meet a success are desired by the movie company. Pictures of the directors of the chamber, city councilmen, members of the air rodeo committee and the membership committee of the chamber and other views of all those attending the meeting at the Masonic temple will be taken tomorrow and will later be incorporated into the aviation film. The meeting tomorrow will be under the direction of Dr. T. C. Young.

Tucker Is Honored By California Eisteddfod

R. Ernest Tucker, Glendale superintendent of municipal recreation, a member of the executive board of Glendale district Eisteddfod, which the local Community service is sponsoring here, has received notice of his appointment on the administration committee of the California Eisteddfod. This committee of eight prominent Southern Californians will take charge of the executive work in Southern California.

The appointment came from Ben F. Pearson, president of the California Eisteddfod and also head of the Civic Music and Art association, of Los Angeles. Other members of the committee are Charles L. Munro, former president of the Eisteddfod; W. R. Berry, president of the Orpheus club; Frederick Hokin, director of the Ventura County Eisteddfod; Arthur Perry, assistant dean of music, University of Southern California; Charles F. Edson, poet, artist, composer, and Alexander Stewart, executive manager of the Civic Music and Art association.

Glendale district Eisteddfod workers now are active Mr. Tucker reported today, preparations being made for the Contest week April 26 to May 2. Entries close April 18. Many of the entries have been from outside of Glendale, Mr. Tucker said, indications being that the neighboring communities will be well represented.

Fire Destroys Garage With $200,000 Loss

STEBENVILLE, Ohio, April 8.—Flames breaking out in the Stanton Motor Co.'s huge garage here completely destroyed the structure and eighty-five automobiles, entailing a loss of $200,000.

It was from this garage that Gerald Chapman, bandit, stole the Lincoln car which played a prominent part in his trial for murder at Hartford last week. Owners of the garage testified against Chapman.

City Council Will Pass On Engineering Expert

The City Council tomorrow will receive an application for appointment of a prominent state railroad engineer to assist the city in its campaign to obtain reduced Pacific Electric fares to Glendale, it was learned today. The name of the engineer has not been announced, but it is understood that he is one of the best known on the Pacific coast. This will follow the recent action of the council in retaining Attorney Robert Young to assist City Attorney Ray L. Morrow in the fight for lower rates.

The council has already transferred $2000 from the unappropriated reserve to cover the cost of legal and engineering expenses in connection with the forthcoming action.

Park Board Seeks More Public Tennis Courts

Additional locations for public tennis courts throughout Glendale will be sought by a committee of the Glendale Park board, composed of V. M. Hollister and L. T. Rowley. At a meeting of the board this morning it was pointed out that the increased interest being taken in tennis by persons of the city will warrant the establishment of a number of additional courts similar to the two now in use at Patterson Avenue park. It is the intention of the Park board to install at least two more courts at Patterson Avenue park in a short time and to find other suitable locations for courts in various parts of the city. L. H. Wilson, chairman of the board, said.

Reading To Feature Church Meet Tonight

Mrs. Bertha Jackson will give a reading of "The Rock" at Central Christian church tonight. There will be church supper at 6:30 o'clock, followed by a prayer service. The public is invited to hear Mrs. Jackson.

Chamber Prepares For Membership Campaign

While other cities of Southern California are spending from $1.25 to $1.50 per person per year in maintaining their chambers of commerce, the Glendale chamber is operated on a budget that averages approximately 40 cents per person. This fact is brought out in a letter now being sent to every member of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce in connection with plans for the membership campaign to be staged from April 20 to 25. During these five days it is proposed to double the present membership by asking every member to get a member. "Do it for Glendale" will be the slogan.

Chamber of Commerce and Kiwanis club speakers will appear before every service club in the city during the remainder of the week to boost the Kiwanis forum dinner, scheduled for Thursday night, April 16, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. Each service club will be allotted its special table at the forum, when plans for the Chamber membership campaign will be discussed by Dr. T. C. Young, membership chairman. During the five days of the membership drive, directors of the Chamber will appear in four-minute talks before each performance at the local theatres, in behalf of the campaign.

Community Service To Get Back Of Fiesta

Community Service will co-operate with the Glendale Realty board and other organizations in staging any sort of a Spanish Fiesta in September. At a meeting of the board of directors yesterday, the fiesta plans were worked out, to date, were favored, and the aid of Community Service offered to the fiesta committee headed by William L. Twining. Richardson D. White, R. Ernest Tucker and George Lyons will form a committee to co-operate with the fiesta committee. The meeting of the Community Service directors took place at the Copper Kettle tea room on North Broadway, President Lyons presiding.

LILLIAN HOLDS NO PITY FOR DUELL

Movie Star Explains That Her Manager Started All Trouble

By EDNA MARSHALL

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News. Copyright, 1923. NEW YORK, April 8.—Lillian Gish has no sorrow in her heart for Charles H. Duell, her former manager and alleged fiancé, who got himself into a peck of trouble with federal Judge Mack by his free and easy testimony in his suit to hold the demure movie star to a contract.

Mr. Duell not only has had his suit thrown out of court, but he faces indictment for perjury on the judge's orders.

"Why should I be sorry for him?" the fair Lillian asked the writer today.

"Of course, we were good friends, and we did do some nice pictures together and had a lot of nice things happen. But then, he brought the suit, didn't he? Although I know there must be money coming to me and I didn't like the contract, I didn't take the matter to court. He did. And the court found the contract had been breached by Inspiration Pictures and by Mr. Duell, to whom my contract was transferred.

"And it was he, not I, who claimed in court we were engaged—and so the statement had to be refuted in court, too. One always feels sorry for a man who is embarrassed—and it must be embarrassing to be told you haven't quite—well, told the truth. I always dislike to have things out in public like that—but it was his choice."

COAST LEAGUERS OPEN UP SEASON

Seals, Bees, Ducks, Solons
Win Initial Games As
Flags Are Raised

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—Four Pacific coast league teams—San Francisco, Salt Lake, Sacramento and Portland—had percentages of 1000 today as a result of victories yesterday over less fortunate aggregations in the opening games of the baseball season in the far west. The losing teams were Seattle, Vernon, Oakland and Los Angeles.

Only one contest went over nine innings—the Seattle-Seals affair, which went one extra frame. Frank Bower, San Francisco right fielder, made himself solid with some 13,000 native sons, when he batted out two home runs in the Seattle game here, scoring a playmate ahead of him on each occasion. Score: San Francisco 6, Seattle 4.

Bill Piercey was the hero of the Salt Lake-Vernon battle, his pitching winning the game for the Bees, Salt Lake 4, Vernon 1. Oakland lost to Sacramento as the result of two costly errors, the Senators taking advantage of the breaks and romping home with the game, Sacramento 5, Oakland 3. Portland won an uphill contest from the Angels after the latter had been leading 3 to 2 up to the seventh inning, Portland 7, Los Angeles 3.

Portland Rumps On Root As L. A. Loses

LOS ANGELES, April 8.—The opening day in the Pacific Coast league has passed into history, and with it the first defeat of the season for the Angels. Portland romped on Charley Root in the eighth inning yesterday at Washington park, drove in four runs and clinched the game, 7 to 3. The Angels got their three runs off of Jesse Winter in six innings, then Rube Yarrison went to the mound for the Ducks, lasted a fraction of one inning, and Dave Keefe finished the melee. Buck Ramsey relieved Root after the first four Portland batters had made four hits in the eighth. The paid admissions for opening day amounted to 12,482.

Law of Averages Is Block

No team has won five pennants in a row, but McGraw and his Giants are out to set a new record and to this end McGraw has performed miraculous stunts in rebuilding his team while winning flags.

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News
SARASOTA, Fla., April 8.—It's natural that the query a sport writer should hear a dozen times a day down here is, "What do you think of the chances of this team or that team or individual players?" And the natural query in this fair city is, "Will the Giants repeat?"

On my first trip here this spring I intentionally refrained from making any predictions along the line of answering such a query. The Giants have been champions so long that it is natural to see them as such. They feel natural in the role. They handle themselves with the confidence that years at the top will bring to men in any profession or business. So much has been written about and around most of their members that one is too prone to accept every member of the team as a star.

So I decided to withhold any opinions until I had seen more of the other clubs in these parts. I had seen but part of them then. Since then I have studied the other clubs. I feel that I have a saner slant on things. And now, looking over McGraw's team for a second time my feeling is that the law of averages is the main stumbling block in their road to their fifth National league pennant.

The club retained the reserve infield strength it built up in the last two campaigns. It has added reserve batting strength, needed at times last season, and the pitching staff has been strengthened. This story is not going to deal with the comparative amount of strength added by the various clubs. Suffice it to say the Giants, who were too good for the other seven clubs last season, have strengthened their weak spots. Only the season will tell how that added strength is to help them. The same holds true of the other clubs.

But the law of averages is against McGraw. No club has made five straight pennants. Only two clubs in the history of the game have won four straight. Boston took that number in a row in the old National association. St. Louis performed the feat in the old American association.

Few managers have even flirted with three straight flags. Connie Mack has never won three. Miller Huggins made the grade only to fall at the barrier when he tried to make it four straight. The law of averages was against McGraw when he won his fourth. It seems almost impossible that he can repeat that feat again—hold the league in check for five grueling campaigns.

Yet why shouldn't he? The Pittsburgh Pirates loom once more just as they always have—pennant possibilities. But it is the history of the last four years that has given them the punch when it was needed. The Cubs have had Wrigley millions behind them in past years in their frantic efforts to halt the McGraw machine. This year they have been hit hard by the injury to Rabbit Maranville. And so it goes through the list of contenders.

Meanwhile, this team on which McGraw is counting for the drive to hold his throne presents something new in baseball. Usually a team is at the peak of its play when it wins its first pennant. The very next season sees one or more of the main cogs in that machine crumbling under the pace. Teams repeat, though, because the machine as a whole clings together. They carry on under the impetus of the first campaign. Then the machine cracks. That is the history of the game.

McGraw, however, has carried spare parts all through the four years past. He finds himself now with a "young" ball club—a club built under the stress of pennant play. The young team of today is formed of men he threw into the breach in seasons past to stem the tide of defeat.

Frankie Frisch, Travis Jackson, Freddie Lindstrom, Bill Terry, Ross Ryan, Jack Bentley, Lew Wilson, Virgil Barnes. These men stepped in when his outfield, his infield or his pitching have become integral parts of his machine.

Frank Frisch played his first full year in the infield the first year the Giants topped—in 1921. He is now just approaching the zenith of his career at twenty-seven. Virgil Barnes, young brother of Jess, was finding himself in the first couple of campaigns. He is young, twenty-eight. Travis Jackson was a rookie when thrown into the infield breach two years ago. He is only twenty-one now.

Lindstrom is young. Freddy Lindstrom is not yet twenty. Yet he is ready to play regularly in the Giant infield the minute Heinie Groh falls. Lindstrom earned his spurs in the world's series last fall. Ryan joined the team in the spring of 1921. He won seventeen games in 1922 and sixteen in 1923. He had an off year in 1924. He is ready to go right now. Jack Bentley is not a young man, but he seems to be at the top of his form. He won thirteen games for McGraw two years ago and sixteen last year.

Bill Terry, who started life as a pitcher and now gives McGraw not only protection at first but a two-man batting combination at that sack, is only twenty-seven. Lew Wilson, who clouted the ball all over the lot last season and will play the outfield at least half the time for McGraw this year, is twenty-four. George Kelly isn't an old man by any means. Emil Meusel and Ross Young are vets. But McGraw has ample reserve strength for the outfield—Southworth, Frankie Walker and even Jack Bentley.

Backstop star, should be Paul when old Hank Gowdy and Frank Snyder falter. There never was a veteran championship team that stacked up as such a young aggregation. Which in itself is a point to be weighed carefully when figuring McGraw's chances to beat the law of averages.

HEAVY SEAT DEMAND
NEW YORK, April 8.—Early demand for seats today for the local opening of the American league season on Tuesday indicated a capacity crowd when the Washington Senators and Yankees, champions and runners-up, respectively, take the field for the 1925 premier. Edward G. Barrows, club secretary, declared that the advance demand was heaviest in the club's history.

BENJAMIN BEATEN BY ACE HUDKINS

Nebraska Wildcat Acquires
Lightweight Title On Pacific Coast

LOS ANGELES, April 8.—Ace Hudkins, Nebraska "wildcat," was today the Pacific coast lightweight champion, following his decisive ten-round victory over Joe Benjamin, Stockton "sheik," in the Vernon coliseum here last night. It was the worst beating of Benjamin's career. The "sheik" was game and fought with a heart of steel until the final bell, but Hudkins was always his master. Ace outstarted, outboxed and out-slugged Benjamin and had him nearly out in the sixth round.

The fight proved to be the fastest ten-round bout ever held at Vernon and drew the largest crowd in the history of the coliseum. Referee Harry Lee caused a wild demonstration when he failed to count as Benjamin rested on his knees in the sixth round. Lee claimed the Stockton fighter was thrown and allowed him time to arise.

Hudkins claimed the referee's failure to count cost him a knock-out. Benjamin was badly punished about the body and face, his right eye being tightly closed for five in a row. The Nebraska "Ace" immediately after the fight issued a challenge to any lightweight in the world.

SPORT CHATTER

By THE SPORTSMAN
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, April 8.—MacDonald Smith is beginning to capitalize on the extremely hard training and sacrifice he has been making in a great golf comeback the past two years.

In defeating an all-star field, embracing practically every professional of note in this country in the annual North and South golf championship at Pinehurst, the Lakeville, L. I. professional played some of the greatest golf ever exhibited in any tournament in this country.

Smith won the tournament with a wonderful score of 281, seven under four, for four rounds, or an average of 70 and a fraction per round. Walter Hagen was only one over four for the four rounds and finished eight strokes back of Smith.

That is golf extraordinary and superhuman. It shows what this brilliant Scot, who, according to Jack Hutchinson, Fred McLeod and golf stars, is the greatest natural golfer living, can do.

Smith still has an opportunity to reap the harvest he is entitled to through his game. He is now about 36 years of age and ought to be capable of playing championship golf for six more years at least.

Smith always has been a great shot maker. But up until only two years ago he was careless and indifferent about the matter of condition. Now he has learned his lesson and today he is in the top of physical condition, is a man of exemplary habits and an exceptionally keen thinker, who will figure prominently in any tournament in which he starts.

Following a brilliant winter of competition in which he has won two major tournaments, Smith will return to his new club, at Lakeville, L. I., to prepare for the American open and the British open championships. He will bear watching in both.

MASCOT MAY SIGN

NEW YORK, April 8.—According to reports, Edward Mascot, European champion, will sign today to meet Johnny Dundee in a bout that will carry all the importance of a world's featherweight championship contest at the Polo grounds July 10.

ALL RECORDS INTACT

DETROIT, April 8.—Paavo Nurmi and Willie Ritola again won their events last night but failed to break any records.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, April 8.—The Cleveland club is angling for a first baseman. It is odd that both Ohio major league clubs should be solicitous about first base in the same season. The Cincinnati's think they have theirs but many folks worry about it. Cleveland has both Knode, the youngster who has been in the south, and George Burns, but is not banking so heavily on either of them that the management is closing its eyes to the possibility of acquiring a future great or taking a first baseman who is already made.

Knode handles himself rather well around first base, but he doesn't appear to be a player who will ever develop into a strong batter. Old Jiggs Donohue could play first base in his time and not hit much. He had a faculty of being a mighty handy man in spite of the fact that he never batted hard. But there was only one Jiggs. There never has appeared a first baseman quite like him since.

Burns, of Cleveland is batting better this year than he did and there are times when he plays first base as well as any of the right handers, but he varies his pace. Stephenson could make a hit for life if he could play first.

A ball player who can hit like he does certainly has a portion of hard luck for his share because of his lack of speed. If he had Knode's speed, or Knode had his batting ability, Cleveland would have a first baseman who would lead the American league as an all around product.

The Cleveland club needs a first baseman to balance up its team. With Fawcett at second, Joey Sewell at short and Lutzke at third there is more speed on their field than Cleveland had last year, but all three of them need a target to which to throw. If George Kelly could be taken out of the National league from the Giants and placed in Cleveland and the Indians, or whatever they call themselves now, would become pennant contenders in the American league race. Just that one chance would revolutionize the team.

In the American league they think a lot of Kelly. One manager insists that he is the best player in the National league. Take him all around in one way and another, and sits up nights asking that some way be found to send him Kelly for a Christmas present. But if the Giants ever asked for waivers on George there will be seven clubs in the National league that would decline to pass him along.

Fewster at second unquestionably has speeded the Cleveland infield. Even Joey Sewell hurries the ball more than he did and Lutzke, who is covering ground at third, is the equal of any man in baseball today.

He slips away from his position as gracefully and as easily as Lajoie was wont to do in the old days. If he could bat like Lajoie, Cleveland, between him and a hardhitting first baseman, would win the pennant. That is putting a lot of "ifs" into the life of a ball team but this Cleveland team of 1925 just escapes brilliancy for lack of speed and even without it is likely to club its way time and again out of games that other clubs seem to have won. There is a tremendous batting force in the team, both among the regulars and the reserves, which shows itself in spots and bobs up when least expected.

Speaker says he has made some changes which are for the good of the team. He was not very specific, seeming loath to discuss all that he had done and his reasons for it, but he was very positive that what he had done had put a new atmosphere around him.

"There is a better feeling on the Cleveland team and a better spirit than there was in 1924," he said. "I do not know how far we can go, and what we can do until we get into the thick of it for six weeks or so, but I am satisfied that we will have better baseball this year than we did last and that, after all, is the principal consideration."

RUTH REMAINS IN ASHEVILLE, N. C.

Home Run King May Be Able To Join Team Later;
Rest Is Ordered

ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 8.—Babe Ruth will leave Asheville this afternoon for New York if his condition is considered sufficiently good for the trip, it was announced today by Miller Huggins, manager of the New York Yankees. Ruth's collapse at the railway station yesterday, when he fainted after having been ill most of the time en route, was ascribed to a highly-aggravated nervous condition following several attacks of influenza.

Ruth may not be well enough to play baseball when the American league season opens, it was said. Physicians here ordered absolute rest for him. Ruth was not ill this morning aside from weakness following his collapse. He was left in bed at the Battery Park hotel here when his team mates resumed their northward journey today. He planned to take a train direct to New York about 4 o'clock this afternoon.

According to Miller Huggins, speaking before he left this morning, Ruth has been playing ball through sheer nerve since the team started north from Florida. He was taken ill a few days ago, the slugger was forced to leave a game after a few innings, but returned to the line-up the following day. Sunday in Chattanooga he was taken ill and entered the game there over the protests of Huggins and several team mates.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP BY FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, April 8.—With the turf season off to a brilliant start at Bowie the racing public has a practical demonstration of the prophecies that 1925 will be remarkable for the quality of its racing and for the public interest in the sport.

For one thing, with new tracks springing up everywhere there has been noted an inspiring impulse in the breeding industry, which, when all is said, is one of the supporting pillars of the sport.

With greater patronage and consequent increase in prosperity, racing associations will be more liberal and some of the historic events will be valuable as never before to horsemen, while the overnight events will be especially favored.

The eight million odd dollars, which was distributed by the racing associations to horsemen in the United States last year will undoubtedly be exceeded this season by a material margin.

Both Bowie and Havre de Grace will be important stake events this month but the season cannot be said to have got into its stride until the first of the classic racing events of the calendar is held at Pimlico, namely, the famous Preakness.

If Mickey Walker is to meet Harry Greb in New York this summer as Humbert Fugazy, of the Italian hospital fund hopes, Walker will have to straighten out his troubles with the New York boxing commission.

Still, if the past is any criterion this ought not to be hard to do. For instance, the commission set down Johnny Wilson when he was middleweight champion for failing to cover Dave Rosenberg's forfeit.

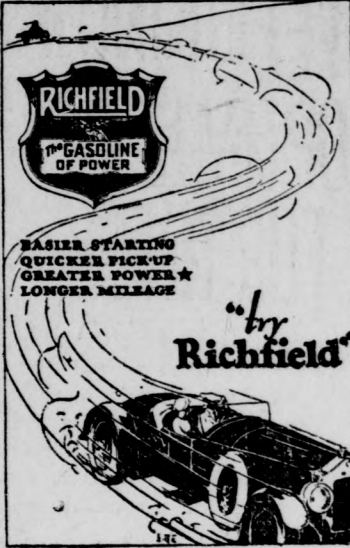

Dave was proclaimed champion. But he did not have the stuff of which champions are made and lost the alleged title to O'Dowd. Mike went out west and fell before Jack Malone in one round. No one, however, ever heard about champion Jack Malone.

Then Johnny Wilson decided to make peace with the commission and agreed to defend his title against Harry Greb. Johnny must have known what the outcome would be, for he forced Greb to guarantee him $60,000 for the chance of winning the title. The Greb did and Wilson faded out of the picture.

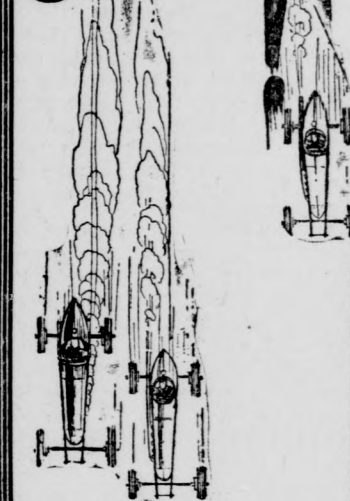

Walker is a more valuable man than Wilson ever was and so he ought to be able to make his peace with the New York body also.

ANNIVERSARY IS HONORED P. E. O.

Local Chapter Celebrates
Fourth Birthday With
Meet, Program

Mrs. E. D. Yard of 431 North Maryland avenue opened her home to Chapter C. J. P. E. O., yesterday, when members celebrated the fourth anniversary, with one of the most delightful meetings of the year. Dr. Laura J. Brown, Mrs. W. W. Hamilton and Miss Martha Cox were assisting hostesses. Special guests were Mrs. Ollie P. Cramer of Los Angeles, past state president of P. E. O., who was state organizer four years ago and officiated at the organization of C. J. and Mrs. Eva Cunningham, also an officer, assisted.

Mrs. J. L. Onstott, president, conducted the business meeting, a feature being the presentation of a letter prepared by the elves committee, composed of Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward and Mrs. Ollie Kuntzner, for signature. The letter will be sent to President Coolidge. It reads:

"We, the undersigned, knowing that you have constructive plans under consideration for a better understanding among nations, and so prevent war, and other projects for disarmament, wish to assure you of our support in this undertaking, and will do our part toward mobilizing the people with that end in view."

Luncheon was served, followed by a program directed by Mrs. D. W. Porter, including "Spirit of Spring" and a waltz as piano solos, played by Mrs. Myrtle Brown and Mrs. Grace Hunter. Miss Isabel Isgrigg favored with vocal selections, "The Palms" and "Hosanna," accompanied by Mrs. E. R. Ripley. Mrs. Grace Hunter sang "Morning," "Trees" and "The Lilac Tree."

Those Present
Mrs. Cramer recalled the organization of the chapter; Mrs. Cunningham spoke on ceremonies, and Mrs. Chase recalled her pleasure as hostess on the occasion. Mrs. J. T. Crampton, one of the charter members, spoke on her impressions as an initiate. The program closed with vocal selections by Miss Isgrigg, who sang by special request, "Ave Maria" and "The Rosary."

The guests present were: Mrs. Ollie P. Cramer of Los Angeles, past state president; Mrs. Eva Cunningham; Mrs. A. S. Chase; Mrs. Albert Read, president of Chapter L; Mrs. R. M. Brown, president of Chapter B; Mrs. Helen Wiloth, president of Chapter D; Mrs. E. U. Emery, Mrs. C. R. Carmack; Mrs. E. R. Ripley, Mrs. Albert Pearce, Mrs. P. E. Maxwell, Mrs. William Hunter, Mrs. J. M. Eyerick, Mrs. Daniel Campbell, Mrs. Edith Huntley, Mrs. Dana Goss, Miss Isabel Is-

RHOADES LAUDED FOR COUNCIL JOB

George Pilbury Cites Record
Of Candidate, Praising
His Capabilities

"Editor, The Evening News:—May I be permitted to say a few words through the columns of your good paper to the voters and citizenship of your beautiful city regarding the candidacy of James M. Rhoades for councilman of your city? It would ill become me to tell the splendid people of your city how to vote. I would not attempt to do this, but it is to me a profound pleasure to say to your people just whom you are voting for when you do vote for Jim Rhoades."

"I have known Mr. Rhoades for more than thirty years. He was assessor of Dawson county, Montana from 1894 to 1896; receiver of the United States land office at Miles City, Mont., from 1897 to 1901; mayor of Missoula from 1912 to 1914."

"The citizenship of Missoula will testify that under his administration the city was conducted more economically and more businesslike than any administration before or since. Under his administration taxes were reduced, more improvements made and the city's debt reduced more than any other administration during Missoula's history. Law and order were enforced and the city run clean. In other words, he made good 100 per cent."

"Mr. Rhoades is a fearless and courageous fighter for what is right. He is honest, trustworthy and dependable. Now this is just the kind of a man Jim is, and if the people of Glendale are looking for this kind of a man for councilman, they will get it if they elect him. He has made a success of Missoula affairs and he has always made a business success in his own affairs, and, if elected, he will make a success of your affairs."

"Thanking you for this opportunity, I am,
Sincerely,
"GEORGE PILBURY,
"Master Mechanic,
"Pacific Lumber Co.,
"524 Ruthellen Street,
"Los Angeles, Cal."

MILL REOPENS

FALL RIVER, April 8.—Stafford Mill Number 1, which has been idle for more than a year, has been re-opened. Work has been provided for 400 hands.

SOCIAL EVENTS

At Santa Monica

Mrs. Gertrude E. Baldwin, royal matron, Albert Lewis Burson, royal patron, Mrs. Maude Evans, associate matron, and Edward Emerick, associate patron, of Ionic court, Order of Amaranth are attending the opening of grand court, Order of Amaranth of California, being held today at Santa Monica.

The annual election of officers will be held tomorrow and a number of members of Ionic court will be in attendance. A reception was given last night at the Municipal auditorium, Santa Monica, for the grand officers, royal matrons and royal patrons of courts being on the reception committee. A dinner dance will be held tonight and the installation of officers will take place Friday. A short business meeting of Ionic court was held last night at Masonic temple, South Brand boulevard. Mrs. Maude Evans, associate matron, and Edward Emerick, associate patron, presided. After the meeting twelve members went to Santa Monica to attend the reception.

J. O. C. Gathering

J. O. C. class members of First Methodist church met last night at the church. Mrs. Laura Rinker, first vice-president, presided at the meeting in the absence of Mrs. A. E. Mack, president. After the business meeting a program of readings and musical numbers were presented. Mrs. Retta Rhodes and Mrs. Martha Hunter, of the Emerson School of Self-Expression gave several readings; Miss Vera Schlotzauer sang two solos. Mrs. Gaunt, retired missionary from China, gave a short talk regarding her work. Eighty members were present. Refreshments were served by the following committee: Mrs. May Knox, chairman; Miss Ina Johnston, Mesdames Stella Kent, Ollie Lucas, Lillian Laas, Grover Loftus, Hatie Jarl, Esther Knox and Mary Knight.

Girl Reserves

Girl Reserves of Intermediate department of First Baptist church held an all day meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. Edith Elliott, 225 West Dryden street. Miss Ella Louise May, president, had charge of the business meeting in the morning. A picnic lunch was served under the live oak tree at noon. Outdoor sports including baseball, basketball, croquet and tennis were enjoyed during the afternoon. Sixteen members were present.

Home Wedding

Miss Eva L. Marino of 203 East Laurel street, and Monroe K. Mangum of Los Angeles, were married last night, Tuesday, April 7, 1925 at 9 o'clock at the home of the bride. Judge Harry W. Chase performed the ceremony in the presence of twenty-five relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs.

Mangum left for a honeymoon trip to Catalina island and on return will make their home in Glendale. The wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Mangum was also the occasion of the fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Noyes of Los Angeles, and the birthday of Mrs. Earl Ecker of Pasadena, wedding guests.

Surprise Party

Miss Rosamond Bicknell of 1381 East Acacia avenue was honored Friday night at a surprise party. The evening was spent playing buncle and other games. Refreshments were served at a late hour. Those invited were Misses Lyette Hezmalhalch, Rosamond Bicknell, Guilla and Susie Smith, Gladys and Esther Jones and Leone Percy; and Paul Taggart, Lyle Wheeler, Herbert Jepson, Lewis Doty, David Nickerson, James Stevens of Fullerton, Allen Bancroft, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bicknell and Mr. Bancroft.

Meet at Church

The monthly business meeting and social meeting of Lydia class of Glendale Presbyterian church will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the church. Mrs. Arthur Terrill, who lived in China for several years, will be the speaker, her subject being "Things I Heard and Saw in China." Mrs. Joseph C. Jewell will sing a group of songs.

News of Wedding

Announcement was received in Glendale this morning of the marriage yesterday, Tuesday, April 7, 1925, in Pasadena, of Miss Maudie Edlensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Edlensen of 105 South Maryland avenue, to Harry Wyatt of Pasadena. After a short trip, Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt will reside in Pasadena, where he is in the employ of the Sun Drug Co.

Hosts at Dinner

Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Craven of 540 North Louise street, had as dinner guests last night Mrs. Lulu Clark of Hollywood; Mrs. J. R. Swearingen of Billings, Mont., and Mrs. H. A. Clarke of Beverly Hills. Later in the evening they attended the concert at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

Postpone Meeting

Mrs. Frank W. Parr, president of Glendale College Women's club, announces that the meeting of the club is postponed from this Saturday to Saturday afternoon, April 18, when the club will give a social affair for senior girls of Glendale High school.

Finish Sewing

Girls of the Princess class of St. Mark's Episcopal church, met last night at the Guild hall to complete welfare sewing taken up during Lent. Twelve girls and Mrs. Frank W. Parr, teacher, were present.

BEAUTY PARLOR IS UP-TO-DATE SHOP

Lexington Shop Visited By Old, New Friends At Recent Opening

Glendale women and girls have not been hesitant in finding the Lexington Beauty Salon, opened last week by Mrs. C. Salisbury at 339 North Brand boulevard. "It is most gratifying to return to business and receive such an inspiring greeting, from both old and new friends," says Mrs. Salisbury, in telling of her success.

Visitors have come from Los Angeles and Hollywood to see the attractive shop and all are unanimous in the opinion that neither city has a similar business, that can surpass the Lexington parlors in either beauty of furnishings or splendid equipment. Mrs. Salisbury is happy to announce that she has enlarged her staff by the addition of Helene Woodford, formerly with The Beauty Shop in Webb's department store. Miss Woodford is a graduate operator in every line of beauty culture, and through expert work in her own shop in Glendale and work in other shops she has a wide circle of patrons and friends.

Grover Loftus Seeks
City Treasurer Office

Grover Loftus, 1241 East Orange Grove avenue, is qualified both by education and experience to fill the office in the most efficient manner, friends who are supporting his candidacy declared yesterday. He is 43 years of age and has been a Glendale resident and property owner since 1911, except for four years, when he was treasurer of the Federal Farm Loan association in the Imperial valley. He graduated from Central college at Macon, Ill., and then obtained a year's post-graduate work at Stanford university. Later he graduated from the Accountants' Educational institute of Los Angeles.

Loftus was assistant cashier of the Raritan Union bank of Raritan, N. J., and for several years was treasurer of a Los Angeles building company, his friends said today. He has also been connected with the quartermaster's office at Harvard military school in Los Angeles. His candidacy has been given the support of the members of

BIBLE STUDENTS
ARRANGE LECTURE

A. J. Eshleman Speaks Here
Thursday On Rebuilding
Of Palestine

Local members of the International Bible Students' association have arranged a lecture by A. J. Eshleman for Thursday, April 9, at the Hahn auditorium, 109-A North Brand boulevard. His subject will be "Jews Rebuilding Palestine, The Reason." He will discuss the prospect of Jerusalem becoming the capital of the world. Of the lecture Mr. Eshleman says: "Many have wondered why so numerous a people as the Jews do not have a nation of their own, especially when 3,000 years ago they were the most prominent people upon the earth. When God made promise to Abraham respecting the land which is now Palestine that all the land which he could see in every direction would be given to him and to his posterity for an everlasting possession, did God keep His word?"

"Millions of dollars are flowing to Jerusalem and thousands of Jews are going thither. Some claim that the Bible teaches that Jerusalem ultimately shall become the capital of the world. What is the prospect of this becoming a fact? And what shall be the system of government? Will such an arrangement be beneficial to the world at large? Have the radio and its present popularity anything to do with the fulfillment of prophecy?" The lecture is free and open to the public.

Motorist Tagged For Speeding Chooses Jail

Charles E. Hamilton, 514 West-ern avenue, Glendale, refused to sign a ticket to appear in court to answer a charge of speeding after he had been stopped last yesterday by Motorcycle Officers Lamb and Lyon. As a result he spent last night in the city jail and was to be arraigned this afternoon before Police Judge F. H. Lowe. Bail has been fixed at $25 which he had not posted at noon today.

Six hundred and forty-seven miles of the Southern Railway in England will have been electrified early next year.
